SMALLER COLLEGE FOOTBALL TEAMS SHOWING UP

Leading Authority on Game Gives Reasons Why They Are on Equality With Big Institutions

New York, Jan. 27.—The unusual strength developed by the so-called smaller college football teams of last season is still a subject of much discussion by students of the game. M. J. Thompson, one of the leading officials and authorities on football in an analysis of the situation states,

"There are several very satisfactory reasons that might be offered to explain the football equality which at present exists between the large and small colleges. The little universities must by reason of their football policy retain a conservative style of play. The smaller colleges on the other hand more readily adapt themselves to the changes in the rules and are consequently able to offer more surprises in offensive play than their big brothers can afford by their more ponderous team work. Then, too, the small institutions have everything to gain and nothing to lose by employing these new tactics."

"If they lose, it is no discredit to them but if they win or even tie, the great glory is theirs and their victory is nearly always the result of careful analysis of the new rules, and often their reckless application. Their style is always characterized by quick, snappy plays, the frequent use of the forward pass and, when it was legal, the onside kick. The large universities cannot so safely employ these tactics. They must be conservative, they can take no chances, they must win as the result of less brilliant plays and more faultless team work, so when an or-

DENVER CLUB WILL NOT BE SOLD, SAID

Indianapolis, Jan. 27.—The Denver club of the Western league will not be sold, according to announcement made today by James C. McGill, the principal owner. He said he had decided not to dispose of his holdings. No changes will be made in the personnel of the Denver club and McGill announced that Jack Coffey would probably be manager of the club as Jack Hendricks will manage the Indianapolis club of the American Association.

RIVERS SHOWS FEW MARKS OF HIS DRUBBING

Fighter Who Lost Decision to Wolgast at Milwaukee Last Week Here on Way to Los Angeles.

CHAVEZ GOES TOMORROW FOR BOUT AT PUEBLO

Joe Rivers who lost the decision to Ad Wolgast in their fight at Milwaukee last Saturday night, was in Albuquerque this morning with his manager, Joe Levy, on the way to Los Angeles, a passenger on the California limited. Rivers and Levy were met here by A. Ross Benny Chavez's manager, Chavez and a number of local fight fans, anxious to see the wreck which the press reports said Wolgast had made of Rivers. Joe, however, showed not a sign of the drubbing he is said to have received. There is not a mark on his face and he says he has never felt in better condition. His manager declares that the worst Rivers should have had of the contest was a draw, but that the Milwaukee sport writers gave his boy all the worst of it.

Both Rivers and Levy are interested in Benny Chavez and are urging Ross to take him east. The Milwaukee club has asked for Chavez and is now seeking to find a boy to meet him. Rivers and Levy saw the Trinidad boy in his last fight in Los Angeles and declare he has class, and that his claim to the featherweight championship is not at all unfounded. They think, however, that he will have to do some winning east of the Mississippi before he can make the claim at all.

Chavez and Ross will leave tomorrow for Pueblo where Benny is to go into training for his fight with Winters on February 12th.

Frank Fowles, who left last night for El Paso, will return in a few days to get in condition for his fight here with George Memrie on February 12.

MUCH INTEREST IN TRACK MEET AT UNIVERSITY

Second Semester Which Starts Today Finds Athletic Enthusiasm Growing; Many Competitors Coming.

The second semester at the University of New Mexico was officially opened this morning with everybody on hand bright and early and looking forward to a successful and enjoyable period of work. The University today begins to round out one of the best years of its history and prospects are sufficient to keep Dr. Boyd and everybody else smiling.

Dr. Boyd made a short address on "Education and Earning Power," which was practical and to the point and listened to with close attention.

Interest in Track Meet.
Much interest is developing in the annual intercollegiate track meet to be held at the University on Saturday, April 25, and it is expected that practically every institution in the state will be represented by a team or by one or more competitors. Letters received from outsiders show that there will be more statewide cooperation than ever before to make the athletic event a success.

CLOVIS TO HAVE FARMERS' DAY ON FEBRUARY

United Efforts to Be Made to Create Greater Interest in Farming Dairying and Livestock Raising.

SILOS HAVE PLACE ON EVERY STOCK FARM

Clovis, N. M., Jan. 27.—Saturday, February 14, 1914, will be red letter day in Curry county for the farmer and stock grower. This was decided upon at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held at the Elk's home Friday night. The occasion will be one of education and instruction to the farmer and the day will be officially designated as "Farmers' Day."

The people of Clovis fully realize that a prosperous farming and stock raising community around Clovis means a larger and better town.

Speakers who know whereof they speak will address those assembled on such subjects as silos, dairying, livestock, poultry and profitable forage crops, including the new Soudan grass. A movement is also on foot to assist those who need it in securing seed and livestock for dairying and feeding purposes.

There is to be a unified effort made here this year as never before to awaken interest in the great farming, dairying and livestock raising possibilities of this section of the country. A systematic plan of advertising the country is to be adopted and further efforts advanced to bring more people into the county as well as to assist and encourage those who are now here.

TRACEY IS A FIRM BELIEVER IN THE SILO

Carlsbad, Jan. 26.—"The cow, alfalfa and the silo," says Francis G. Tracey, just home from a six weeks' tour of the Pacific coast, "form a combination that will make the Pecos valley." Mr. Tracey always was a believer in the cow as the great factor in development of dairying in the Pecos valley along modern lines. He has become fully convinced that silos have a place on every farm that carries stock.

Mr. Tracey is glad to be home and finds Carlsbad as prosperous as any place he has visited. But he is not content with the present prosperity, but wants the entire valley to join hands in a broad co-operative development campaign for a great Pecos valley. As president of the Commercial club he is ready to consider any plan that will foster development of the entire valley. He thinks the time is opportune. An order has been issued by the government to make a complete survey of the Pecos river with a view of bringing into use all the water of this great stream, and Mr. Tracey thinks the valley as a whole should place itself in position to take advantage of conditions when it is known what further waters may be available for the irrigation of new land.

LOSE 13 HEAD OF HORSES: MAY BE POISONED ENSLAGE

Tucumcari, N. M., Jan. 26.—The report here is to the effect that thirteen head of horses have now been killed by the bell sisters residing eight miles northwest of this place. Nine head were brood mares, some of which were valuable, having been imported from New York by the Bell's some years ago. The others were colts, one being the handsome large two-year-old horse with which it was expected to sire the herd. Only one colt survives, it being kept most of the winter at the farm of a neighbor. Because of this incident many are of the opinion that the disease is infectious. Some have thought the misfortune the result of poisoned ensilage. The family has a new 200 acre twenty feet deep, well cemented with a three-foot above wall at top, the whole cemented inside and out. They have been indefatigable workers since coming to this country, and, if anything, deserved to succeed. In the cyclone two years ago they suffered a complete loss of their house and furnishings, together with other buildings, and were now beginning to become firmly established after this fresh start.

300 HEAD OF GOATS SHIPPED FROM LAKE VALLEY

Lake Valley, N. M., Jan. 26.—D. C. Taylor sold and shipped 300 head of fine goats the past week; the goats were purchased by Mr. Jackson of Del Rio, Tex. This makes the second lot of fine goats Mr. Jackson had bought and shipped from this point.

HE'S TOO OLD AND WE CANNOT HAVE FITZ IN RING

By LEASED WIRE TO Evening Herald
New York, Jan. 27.—The supreme court today denied the application of Robert Fitzsimmons, one-time heavyweight champion of the world, for an injunction restraining the New York Athletic commission from refusing to sanction his participation in boxing exhibitions in this state. The commission held that Fitzsimmons, who is 51 years old, is too old to enter the ring again. Justice Seabury ruled that the commission was within its rights in making such an order.

KID SHOP-LIFTERS WORRY ROSWELL MERCHANTS

Mere Children Loot Stores Like Old Campaigners: Thieves Enter Springer Meat Market

Roswell, N. M., Jan. 26.—Juvenile shoplifting has become such an industry in this city that it is worrying the merchants not a little. Children even under twelve years have been caught sneaking goods off counters and out of showcases, both boys and girls being mixed up in the business in the majority of cases. The offenders being too young for dramatic action, instances of shoplifting or attempted shoplifting occur nearly every day.

For instance, a few days ago in one of the variety stores an eight-year-old lad snatched around. The lad slipped a gun on the floor and gradually slid the gun out to the back way, and then slanting along shooting and slightly kicking it until he was out of sight.

Another instance happened the past week. Two little girls, aged about nine years, went into a store. One of the girls took the only salesman in the store to the rear end with the intention of buying something. While she was doing this the girl who stayed up in the front end slipped some goods under her coat. The salesman was wise and before the children left the store had them unload. These girls, not ashamed of their crime, still go into the store to look around.

THIEVES BURY AT SPRINGER

Springer, N. M., Jan. 26.—Last Friday night thieves broke into the meat market of Higgins & Aldredge between the hours of 6 and 7 o'clock and rifled the cash register obtaining about $15 in all. While Mr. Higgins and the meat cutter were out to supper, the thieves entered the front door, which they pried open. Who ever did the work no doubt had been watching the entire afternoon for the opportunity to pull off the job. Several parties are under suspicion, but no arrests have yet been made.

(From the Cincinnati Enquirer.) There are a lot of harmless lunatics in the world including the man who thinks he is so pretty that he has his photo taken two or three times a year.

Most of us are millionaires in criticism and naughtiness in helpfulness.

What has become of the old-fashioned housewife who sat home on the 4 a. m. night owl and kept the other passengers awake by singing: "Just because she made them Gee-Goo Eyes?"

When a man hands his wife some money, that she didn't expect, she knows that he has been doing something in bad no right to do.
